our australian story

We are one of the oldest furniture brands in Australia starting out in 1950 by brothers Bill and Bob Hawkins as W.H and R Hawkins Furniture Manufacturers.

Specialising in handmade furniture which was favoured at the time, the two brothers built up a manufacturing business known for high quality and craftsmanship.

Now we are in the people business.

Our approach is to work one-on-one with our customers and partners to build long term, productive relationships.

We want to increase people's happiness and improve their health and wellbeing and we are committed to offering friendly and supportive service to our customers.

We are a 100% owned and operated Australian company.

We work closely with Australian designers, manufacturers and suppliers, putting money back into the local economy .

We closely mentor our staff, encourage internal collaborations and exploration of innovative ideas inviting change within our surrounding community and environments.

we endeavour to learn from our past and encourage connections to our culture.

we commit

Innerspace are committed to help reconnect Indigenous people to their culture, building a sense of identity by giving purpose and contributing to the social economy of our country.

We aim to do this by engaging with local Indigenous groups to increase our knowledge and understanding by implementing educational programs with our staff and clients.

We endeavour to also help the non-indigenous community and businesses with equal value to continue to increase economical developments within the furniture industries.

our goals

Where we are at?

We are currently investigating working alongside Indigenous foundations who encourage employment, apprenticeships & traineeships within the furniture design & manufacturing industries.

We are exploring possible collaborations with local Indigenous artists to produce furniture, homewares and artwork for our showrooms and product ranges.

We engage with Australian Labour Hire companies who solely employ Indigenous workers.

Lets share the opportunity to experience Indigenous cultural understanding together.
